K. C. Wolf is the official mascot of the National Football League's Kansas City Chiefs... In the inaugural class of 2006, he became the first NFL mascot inducted into the Mascot Hall of Fame. K. C. Wolf has been portrayed by Dan Meers since the mascot's inception.

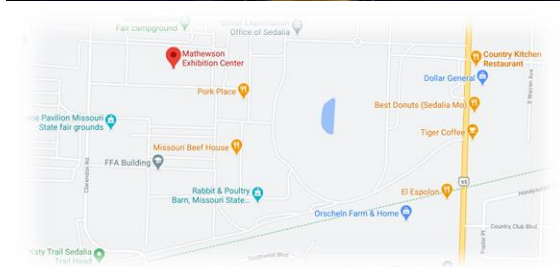

Since his introduction to Chiefs fans in 1989, KC Wolf has quickly become one of the most entertaining mascots in professional sports.

In November 2013, Meers was seriously injured while rehearsing a bungee cord stunt from a bank of lights above Arrowhead Stadium. Sidelined for six months while recovering from cracked ribs, a collapsed lung and a broken vertebra suffered in the accident, Meers wrote a book titled "Wolves Can't Fly" and gave all the proceeds to charity.

"My occupation is mascotting," Meers said. "My preoccupation, what I'm truly passionate about, is my faith, family and using my life to make a positive impact on the world I live in."
